
The UK One World Linking Association (UKOWLA) is committed to supporting mutually beneficial partnership links between communities in the UK and in the South (developing countries).

UKOWLA believes that

- creative partnership links between the peoples of the world through exchange, mutual practical support, through development education and advocacy are crucial for a more just and sustainable world
- these links enable people to bring global and local issues closer together see themselves and their responsibilities in the context of a diverse complex and interdependent world
- mutual respect for cultural, social and religious diversity is a basic tenet of partnership and that true and lasting friendship is a prerequisite for the promotion of understanding between the people internationally.
- links to other parts of the world can and should be a powerful tool in creating greater social cohesion between diverse communities in Britain.

I/we understand and agree with the above principles of belief to which members of UKOWLA adhere, believe they apply equally to ourselves and our work and wish to apply for membership.

What's in it for you and your linking organisation?

1. Membership of the national charity that supports and promotes partnerships for learning between communities across the United Kingdom and countries across Africa, Asia, Caribbean, Latin America and other selected countries.
2. UKOWLA's magazine OWL which is published three times per year, which gives you news and information about current linking activities and best practice, and provides a forum for debate and ideas to which we hope you will contribute.
3. Access to publications and research relevant to partnership linking, including opportunities to contribute to ongoing research and publications.
4. Contact through the UKOWLA Directory of Members with other partnership organisations and the chance to network and exchange views about all aspects of setting up and developing mutually beneficial linking relationships.
5. Invitations to collaborate and participate in national and international conferences, regional network meetings, training events and practical workshops on topics which will support your work and give you an opportunity to network with others who have links at reduced members rates for UKOWLA events.
6. The opportunity to attend the AGM and to become involved as a Trustee of UKOWLA.
7. Opportunities to promote events and activities of your link to other UKOWLA members and those involved in developing strategies.
